Biographical sketch of Paul Estes (1898-1945): William Paul Estes was born August 15, 1898 in Rex, Clayton County, Georgia to James H. and Emma Askew Estes. His other passed away in 1970 when Paul was 9. Afterwards his father remarried and the family relocated to Atlanta. Estes was drafted in 1917 for service in World War I and entered the Army at age 19. Nine months later he lost both legs to a train accident in Atlanta, which caused health issues for the remainder of his life. He spent many months in the Veteran's Hospital at Fort McPherson and at one point was treated with cobra venom for nerve pain. Estes entered Emory Law School in 1921 in hopes of establishing a law career, but withdrew due to health issued a few months later. In 1925 Estes married Martha Gaar (also spelled Garr) and they moved to 202 Fifth Street in Decatur across from Fifth Avenue School. In 1938 he was elected to the office of the county coroner and he served until his death in September 1945. He was a member of the Harold Byrd American legion post 66 in Decatur. He also worked as a part-time manager of the city of Decatur pool.

Description: The collection consists primarily of newspaper clippings of inquests conducted by Estes. There is a scrapbook from 1944 of his cases, an account book for his time working at the Decatur Pool, and a group of clippings on his work on the Atlanta banker Henry C. Heinz murder 1943-1945. There is also the yearbook of Decatur High School, the Caveat Emptor from 1946, which has a dedication page to Estes. There is also correspondence relating to the family trying to get compensation from the Army proving that the loss of his legs caused circulation problems that eventually lead to his heart attack in 1946. There is an interesting letter a citizen sent trying to get Estes to stop selling liquor at the Decatur Cemetery.
