Description

The Roger Mills Collection documents the DeKalb county School Desegregation Case through news clippings, correspondence, court documents, enrollment figures, historical outlines, school reports, and various other papers. The collection includes eighteen boxes that stretch from 1886 through 1995; however, the bulk of the collection falls between 1964 and 1993. This collection is an excellent source for researchers interested in lengthy documentation but may become tedious for those looking for an overview. The brief history in Box 1 provides a succinct background of desegregation but is somewhat subjective.

Boxes 1 through 4 focus more on education and students, while legal issues take precedence in boxes 5 and 6. Beginning in the sixth box and continued in Box 7, news clippings provide public views of DeKalb County desegregation from 1966 until 1993. All court documents and orders were issued in the United States District Court for the Northern District of Georgia Atlanta Division. General files are located in boxes 12, 13, and 14. These contain a variety of items ranging from PTA newsletters to Title VI guidelines. Some specifics include Human Relations Council activities, federal rights under the School Desegregation Law, Affirmative Action procedures booklet, M-to-M transfer regulations, a report from NAACP Education Committee, district leadership personnel listings, pamphlet titles, "Improving the Academic Achievement of African-American Students," and computations of bond funds. The last boxes, 15 through 18, are notebooks left in their original order. Box 15 deals with the Bi-Racial committee, Box 18 includes a NAACP executive report, and each of the last four boxes contains general papers which were kept for official use.

Additional notes concerning order and contents are written on some folders. Chronological order within category has been used wherever possible, and undated items follow dated ones.
