

INDIAN CREEK CEMETERY

This cemetery is on Indian Creek Dr. in Clarkston GA across the street from Georgia Perimeter College. It was formerly owned by the Indian Creek Baptist Church but now each plot is individually owned. There is an unpaved road that runs on the side and back of the cemetery. There is no fence. There is a credit union to the right, homes along the back and a shopping center to the left.

We have listed the graves in 5 sections, running from left to right in rows. We moved from back to front in section A which begins on the far left of the cemetery. Then we began again at the back of section B. The graves are listed exactly as they appear. Unmarked graves are noted. Broken or damaged stones are noted.

All graves face the north unless otherwise noted.

A row of astericks appears between sections in the cemetery. The beginning of each row is noted. An alphabetical index appears in the back.

A transcription of this cemetery was done in 1931 by Franklin Garrett. Each name that appears on both his list and mine as noted with an asterisk. Any names that are on Mr. Garrett's list that we could not find will be discussed and listed at the end of this report.
