

DeKalb News/Star
12/6/89

Flat Shoals PTA

Honors Ms. Beasley

The Flat Shoals PTA honored third grade teacher Ms. Jackie Beasley as Teacher of the Year.

Renee Shackelford, principal, presented Ms. Beasley with a corsage while Jim Davis, administrative assistant, gave the honoree a "Teacher of the Year" plaque.

As a special tribute to Ms. Beasley and to all Flat Shoals teachers, seventh grader Demetrius Hurt, who is captain of the Flat Shoals patrol, recited a poem, "Molders of the Future," by Margaret Rorke.

Ms. Beasley said that she was accepting her award for all the teachers at Flat Shoals because, "Every teacher is teacher of the year."

Ms. Beasley is no stranger to honors. She grew up in Alabama and worked her way through college by competing in many of her home state's beauty pageants.

In every pageant, she won a scholarship. Some of her past honors include: 1973, Miss Coosa County, Miss Coosa County Farm Bureau Queen, Miss Congeniality in Miss Lake Martin Pageant; in 1974, Miss Congeniality in the Miss East Alabama and the Miss Sylacauga pageant; and in 1975, Miss Congeniality in the Miss Talladega County pageant, Second Alternate and Miss Congeniality in the Miss Northeast pageant.

In the Miss East Alabama pageant, she won Miss Congeniality, the talent contest, the Modeling Scholarship and pageant title. In addition, in 1975, she was selected as Alabama Textile Queen.

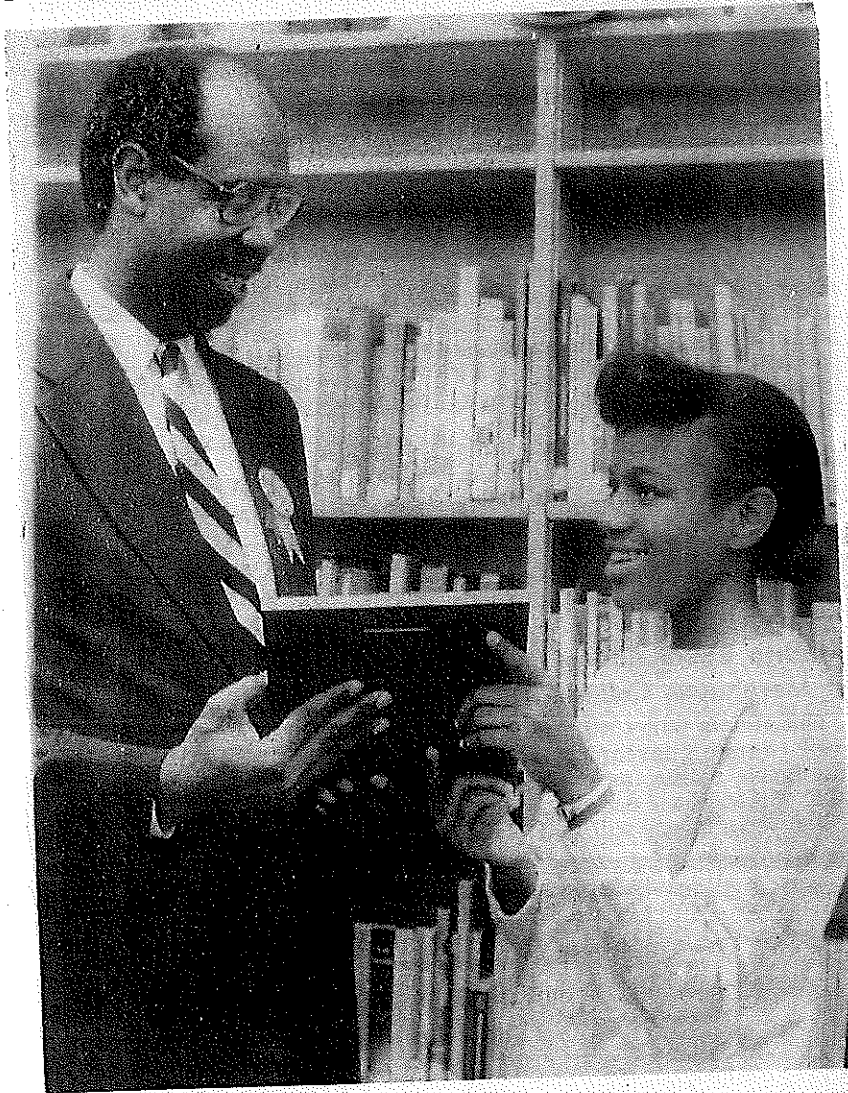

Santa Is On Camera

The Flat Shoals School Christmas presentation woman; Noel Hill, Santa Claus; Kendra Robinson, catches Santa Claus as the featured performer in a a child; and Shamar Jackson, announcer. TV special. Left to right, Erica Howell, a camera

12/21/88

The Deibel News

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 4, 1987

Flat Shoals Elementary adopted

President of Clark College Dr. Elias Blake Jr., left accepts a plaque from Flat Shoals Elementary School student body president Valerie Collins at a recent adoption at Flat Shoals Elementary School. The partnership is to be academically oriented with special emphasis on computer literacy, mass communication and science instruction.

File (schools
Flat Shoals
Elementary

Tip Of The Hat

Flat Shoals Elementary School was honored at the Governor's Community Betterment Awards Banquet for placing first in the School Category of the Georgia Clean and Beautiful Awards. Pictured are (L-R): Mitchell Johnson, president of DeKalb Clean and Beautiful Inc.; Maria Hosch, teacher at Flat Shoals; Governor George Busbee; and Lynn Summer, executive coordinator of DeKalb Clean and Beautiful Inc.

Weds. January 5, 1983

Tucker Neighbor

original newspaper clipping
copy sent to Maria Hosch

Flat Shoals Elementary School
3726 Flat Shoals Road

DEKALB ACE

Education Group Installs Officers

DeKalb Association of Childhood Education (ACE) installed new officers at the May meeting at Nancy Creek School.

Mrs. Mary Freeman, ACE advisor, installed the following: Polly Christie, Toney School, president; vice presidents, Jean McGriff, Robert Shaw Center; Alean Cooper, Oakcliff; Francis Bennett, Flat Shoals; and Jean Thomas, Evansdale; Elizabeth Brown, Medlock, secretary; Brian Dobbs, Knollwood, treasurer; and Alyce Putnam, Toney, parliamentarian.

Burt Fulford, principal of Nancy Creek School, welcomed ACE members and introduced Jim Cherry, superintendent of DeKalb County schools.

Cherry pointed out accomplishments of the past and stressed hopes and plans for the future in early childhood education, continuing education for adults, occupational training and lower pupil-teacher ratio in classrooms.