Champion Spellers 5/16/90

Mainstreet Celebrates International Day

Jan. 29 was International Day at Mainstreet Elementary as students shared with each other cultures from around the world. Seven countries were studied with costumes, food, dancing and customs displayed. The PTA Cultural Arts Committee sponsored the event. Shown are children viewing finishing touches being made on the dragon from China.

Forbes Stuart Tells Tales To Mainstreet Elementary Students

Author Forbes Stuart captures the attention of sixth graders at Mainstreet Elementary School with an Irish folktale from his book, "The Magic Bridle." Stuart's visit was sponsored by DeKalb College-Central Campus, which has adopted Mainstreet through the Partners-in-Education program. A novelist and short story writer listed in both "Contemporary Authors" and the "International Who's Who of Contemporary Authors," Stuart is also a published authority on African and British folklore and folk music. This was his fourth visit to Mainstreet.
