

Thanks For Help

Rock Chapel PTA president Judy Gooch does the honors as DeKalb Director of Public Services Dick Hand (left) receives a resolution commending the DeKalb Police Services Bureau of the Public Safety Department for outstanding service rendered to the Rock Chapel School-community family. Principal John Bellamy (right) stated that he had requested police protection because construction of a new facility to replace the 1940 school building had made the former parking-bus-turn-around area inaccessible. School bus loading and unloading had to take place on the street. In response to this call for assistance, members of the police force were on duty both morning and afternoon for four months to ensure the safety of Rock Chapel students.

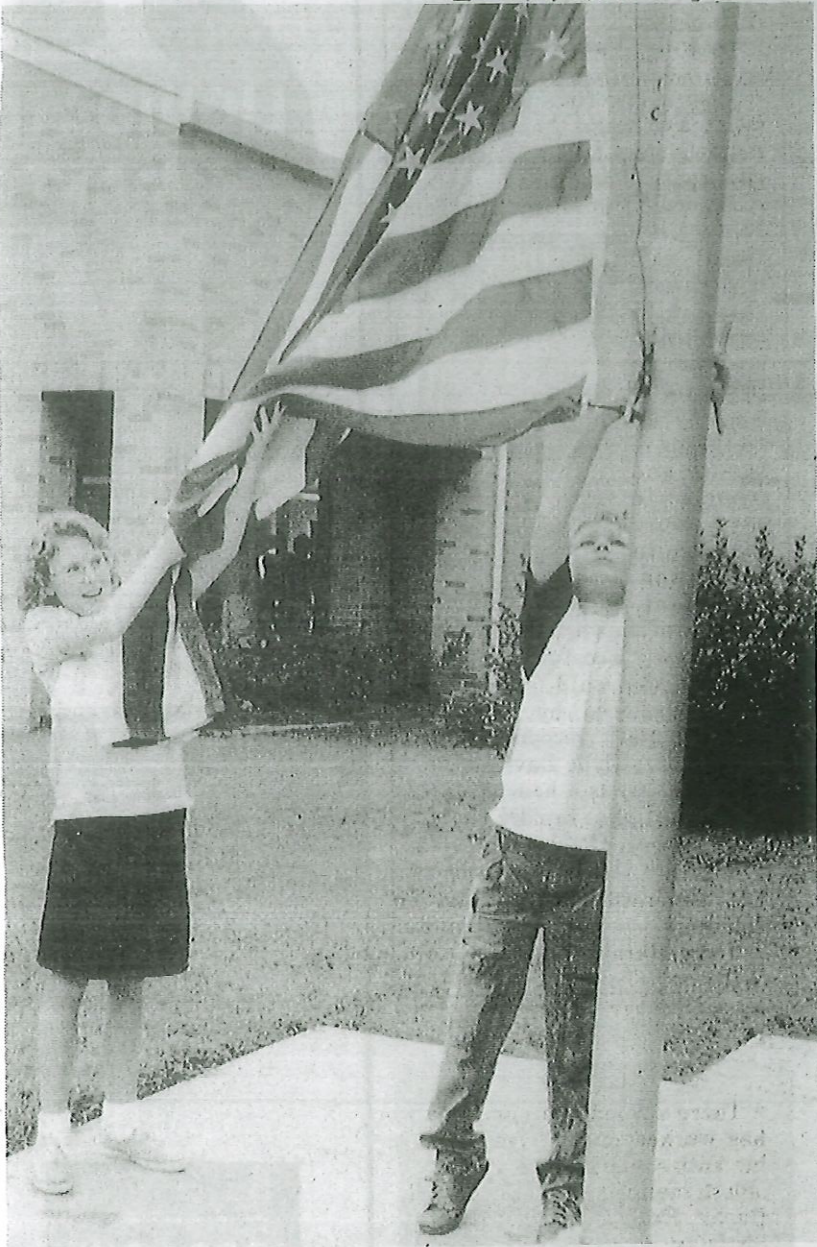

Comm. returned Police Dept

DeKalb County, Ga. 1983

*SCHOOLS - Elementary
Rock
Chapel*

Subject File 4

Rock CHAPEL
ELEMENTARY

Flag Raised Each Morning

School each day begins with the raising of the flag. Here patrols members Traci Thompson, left, and Randy Wynne raise Old Glory at Rock Chapel Elementary. Both are sixth graders at the Lithonia school.

DeKalb News / Sun Oct 12, 1988

DeKalb News/Star 3/4/92

Rock Chapel Honors Teacher

At a PTA reception, Teacher of the Year, Loretta Vail, left, is presented with a Caribbean cruise from Rock Chapel's partner in education, Blue Circle Aggregates Inc. Pictured with Ms. Vail is Judith Rice, principal. Ms. Vail is presently the reading specialist and faculty advisor for student council. She holds a B.A. degree from the University of Northern Iowa, and M.A. from the University of Nebraska at Omaha.

Rock Chapel School Rocks To A Caribbean Beat

isiahalt news/den 1-29-92

After a week-long study of the Caribbean, its foods, music and art, the students at Rock Chapel Elementary School in Stone Mountain were treated to a grand finale led by the Atlanta Percussion Trio steel drum band. Above: trio member Dave Strohauer sets the beat for students trying the limbo. Left: Scott Douglas plays the steel drum. Below: Mitch Milles, 8, wears a dramatic peacock feather mask.

Jim Cook Jr./Staff

