CROP KEEPS GROWING

Dewey Browns Add 4th

There must be something about Avondale Estates that is conducive for the growth of Dewey Browns because they seem to keep cropping up in ever-increasing numbers. And they all seem to be related.

The head Dewey is City Manager Dewey Brown who has been taking care of the city's affairs for the past 26 years. But he is Dewey Brown Jr., named after his father who now lives in West Palm Beach, Fla.

However Dewey Jr. has five children and among them is another Dewey—Dewey Brown III. He works for the DeKalb County Police Department and has made his home along with his father, in Avondale Estates.

Two and-a-half weeks ago his son, Dewey Brown IV was born.

AND ALTHOUGH City Manager Dewey already had two grandsons, there had to have been a special feeling somewhere deep inside when he first saw his 6-pound, 13-ounce namesake.

"I was at the hospital with my son the night Dewey IV was born," Dewey Jr. said. "I was more nervous than he was."

But now the three elder Deweys are wondering if their younger namesake is going to continue the family tradition of government work. It seems this factor goes along with the name.

Dewey Brown Sr. is a retired fire department captain.
